DETAILED ACTION

Election of Species Requirement

This application contains claims directed to more than one specie of crosslinking reaction of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species of crosslinking reactions are as follows:

1) the crosslinkable functional group is a mercapto group, and the crosslinking reaction is a reaction in which crosslinkages are formed by disulfide formation (for example, disclosed in claim 9),

2) the crosslinking reaction is a reaction in which crosslinkages are formed by addition reaction between a mercapto group and an unsaturated bond (for example, disclosed in claim 10), and

3) the crosslinking reaction is a reaction in which crosslinkages are formed by reaction between a hydrazide group and an activated carboxylic acid ester (for example, disclosed in claim 11).

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single specie to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

The following claim(s) are generic: 1-8 and 12-19.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The common feature of the species is the crosslinked polysaccharide microparticle prepared by a method comprising the following steps: a) preparing a dilute solution containing a polysaccharide derivative having a crosslinkable functional group(s); b) dispersing the solution to form microparticulate droplets; and c) concentrating the solution contained in the droplets to facilitate crosslinking reaction of the polysaccharide derivative. However, said crosslinked polysaccharide microparticle prepared by said method is a known product. For example, see Russell-Jones et al. (US Patent 6,221,397, issued 24 Apr 2001, provided by Applicant on IDS filed 10 May 2006), column 2, lines 36-49, the polysaccharide derivative being carboxymethyl cellulose (column 2, lines 2-3) and the particle prepared by solvent evaporation (column 6, lines 46-54). Therefore said crosslinked polysaccharide microparticle prepared by said method is not the special technical feature of a single general inventive concept. The special technical feature is the specific chemical structure of a specific crosslinked polysaccharide microparticle prepared by a method comprising specific reactions.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
